The Noticer Banned for Noticing Things

By HONKU

Yet another pro-humanity Twitter account was suspended after a particularly biased week by the ass holes in the TOS department. The Noticer, widely followed and appreciated for noticing things, loses his earned following for doing literally nothing wrong. Thanks, Twitter!

The Noticer / The European Man

Having reached #666 on the list, I feel it's an appropriate time to go over some numbers with you. As a disclaimer, the following categories are not mutually exclusive (i.e., some members of the list may fall into multiple categories). Moreover, not every member of the list who falls into a particular category will be accounted for (e.g., the list identifies 28 feminists, but there are certainly more among the 666). That said, these figures are illuminating and will give you a rough idea of what we are dealing with

666 - total jews on the list
221 - Twitter Verified
153 - "Fellow Whites" (this number only encompasses Jews that have expressly used this term—it does not account for all the Jews on the list who pose as white people, which is the vast majority)
79 - Writers/Bloggers
61 - Journalists
45 - Authors
44 - Queers
39 - Activists
30 - Gays
28 - Feminists
27 - Transsexuals
22 - TV hosts/Actors/Actresses
21 - Academics/Professors
21 - Comedians
20 - Attorneys
15 - Bisexuals
15 - Lesbians
11 - Editors
10 - Screenwriters
8 - Non-Binaries
8 - Producers
6 - Witches
5 - Drag Queens
4 - Artists

Batya Ungar-Sargon @bungarsargon

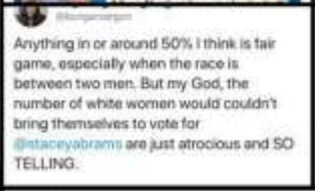
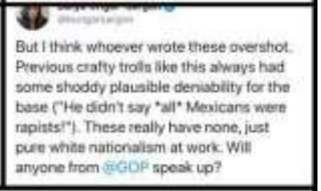
"Only a cool kid reeking of white male privilege would believe that this wouldn't come back to destroy his chances during the confirmation process. And at the end of the day, Trumpism proved him right." @MollyJongFast's excellent take on #BrettKavanaugh:



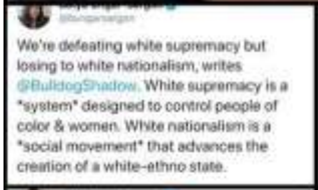
@bungarsargon

Anything in or around 50% I think is fair game, especially when the race is between two men. But my God, the number of white women would couldn't bring themselves to vote for @staceyabrams are just atrocious and SO TELLING.



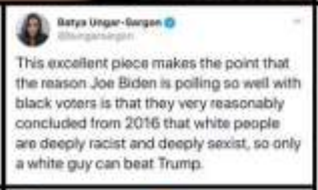
@bungarsargon

But I think whoever wrote these overshot. Previous crafty trolls like this always had some shoddy plausible deniability for the base ("He didn't say all Mexicans were rapists!"). These really have none, just pure white nationalism at work. Will anyone from @GOP speak up?



@bungarsargon

We're defeating white supremacy but losing to white nationalism, writes @BulldogShadow. White supremacy is a system designed to control people of color & women. White nationalism is a social movement that advances the creation of a white-ethno state.



Batya Ungar-Sargon @bungarsargon

This excellent piece makes the point that the reason Joe Biden is polling so well with black voters is that they very reasonably concluded from 2016 that white people are deeply racist and deeply sexist, so only a white guy can beat Trump.

How do you make white people care about racial justice? Tie it to something they already care about! Love this idea to use marijuana legalization revenue to fix the subways. You go @NYCSpeakerCoJo! And let's please have expunging records as part of the bill.

Actions speak louder than self-proclamations of something as relative as morality. I've found great consistency in my fellow Satanists adhering to the "don't be a dick" school of behavior.

2nd Amendment folks: You might want to reconsider re-posting memes that are this obviously racist, from the "ARMED American Patriots," if you want to keep insisting that there is no connection between white nationalism and gun violence. 'just sayin'.

That kind of sexism should drive any mothers of white boys away from the party. prove the party is NOT one of equality and inclusion, and makes us no better than a party that offers only white men. Oh, and fuck off. EQUALITY is color/gender blind.

The Church of Satan has no dog in this hunt, although as a member of their clergy I'd just like to see the whiny pieces of shit who use our religion's name, but not it's principles,get stomped on in court for being douchebags.

It is hard to understand how meaningful it can be to an alternative "community" to feel that they are fully included in the process until their "FIRST."
It also demonstrates our evolution from a colony of straight, white, Puritans to the brilliantly diverse place we're now.

I'm too busy, as a Satanist, imagining a day when secularism prevails, and such antiquated notions as invocations are reserved for churches and homes. It is called the separation of church and state.

The Church of Satan has a body of literature that represents Satanic canonical law. We, want our people to read themselves, rather than circle jerk every Sunday for 10%. Are you complaining that we expect self education, or that I don't respond with Satanic scripture?

Well, shit, Ken. Hop on radiofreesatan.com and hear my podcast, or read my blog, both titled Confessions of a Wicked Witch. My 37 years advocating for alternative religions have evolved into irreverence with shades of revulsion. Solution? Have some fun and lighten up.

He did not win the popular vote and I say in the first paragraph he won with white women. Women can be misogynists, too.

Hadley Freeman

@DrObaro Nowhere do I deny this. All I'm saying is white women were much crueler to slaves than usually acknowledged. Your objection baffles

Hadley Freeman

I would never have a bias for Katie Hopkins but I accept that, as a fellow white woman, we have a similar identity.

Final thought: thinking the election was about the white working class is a comforting fiction for white liberals who don't want to admit...

Hadley Freeman

... how much they personally, like Trump, like all white people, benefit from systemic racism.

@PriyaElan Look at all those POC trying in vain to save white people from themselves.

Do you seriously think white people don't have a systemic benefit?

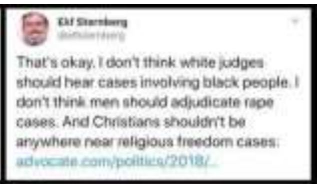
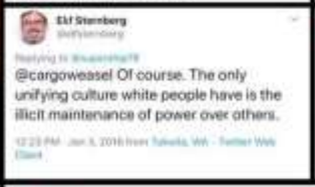
If you ARE a white straight Christian male you've inherited a privileged place in an illict, immorally oppresive system; your choice is whether or not to use those privileges for good, or wallow in the pleasure they bring you while ignoring the suffering they cause others.



EΛf Sternberg

That's okay. I don't think white judges should hear cases involving black people. I don't think men should adjudicate rape cases. And Christians shouldn't be anywhere near religious freedom cases: advocate.com/politics/2018/...



EΛf Sternberg

@cargoweasel Of course. The only unifying culture white people have is the illicit maintenance of power over others.

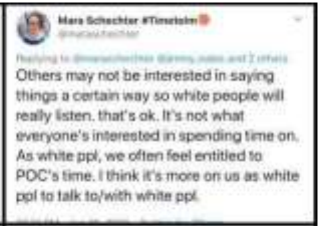
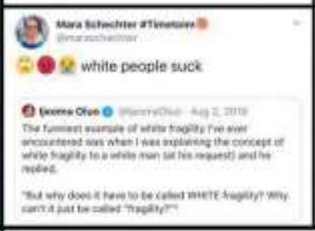
So here's the thing: white ppl all have different experiences & identities (with varying levels of privilege/power associated w/ those identities). But here's what we share: none of us face obstacles specifically due to our face. We live in a society that has been designed for us



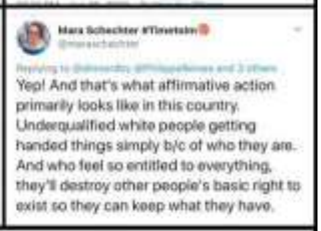
Mara Schechter #TimetoIm

Others may not be interested in saying things a certain way so white people will really listen. that's ok. It's not what everyone's interested in spending time on. As white ppl, we often feel entitled to POC's time. I think it's more on us as white ppl to talk to/with white ppl.



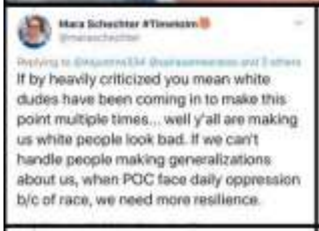
Mara Schechter #TimetoIm

😱🛑😢 white people suck



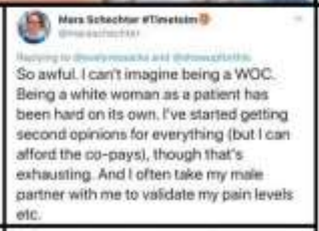
Mara Schechter #TimetoIm

Yep! And that's what affirmative action primarily looks like in this country. Underqualified white people getting handed things simply b/c of who they are. And who feel so entitled to everything, they'll destroy other people's basic right to exist so they can keep what they have.



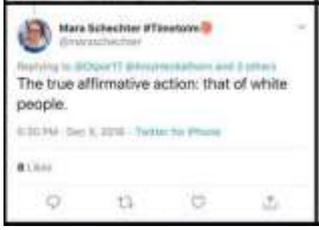
Mara Schechter #TimetoIm

If by heavily criticized you mean white dudes have been coming in to make this point multiple times... well y'all are making us white people look bad. If we can't handle people making generalizations about us, when POC face daily oppression b/c of race, we need more resilience.



Mara Schechter #TimetoIm

So awful. I can't imagine being a WOC. Being a white woman as a patient has been hard on its own. I've started getting second opinions for everything (but I can afford the co-pays), though that's exhausting. And I often take my male partner with me to validate my pain levels etc.



Mara Schechter #TimetoIm

@kmhsmh

me @ myself when I realize being white in this society makes me subconsciously racist to some extent because of institutionalized racism

The President of the United States is calling us, the Party that has won the popular vote in the last 3 elections, an angry mob too dangerous to govern. What kind of insanity is this? He's actually willing to instigate another civil war to protect the lawless white patriarchy.

Ken Olin

He knew. He lies. He's a narcissist. He's a philanderer. He likes hookers. He's greedy. He's in debt. He launders money. He can't read. He's 72. He's desperate. He's a white supremacist. He's a bully. He wants to be a dictator. He loves Putin. Now what?

Ken Olin

The Republican Party is getting more white, less educated - - and significantly more dangerous.

CNN

The Democratic Party is getting less white, more educated — and significantly more liberal

Ken Olin

Fool us once, shame on you. Fool us twice, shame on all of us for believing these are decent people who believe in democracy. They are not. They want to make America white forever. #KavaNO

Every single member of Congress who refuses to support real gun safety legislation has blood on their hands. Period. This has nothing to do with the right to bear arms. This has to do with 21st century mental illness & white nationalism & an insane organization called the NRA.

Ken Olin

Mr. Trump-
Nothing is more emblematic of your administration's systemic racism than treating these children of color as if they are less human than white children. This is absolutely unforgivable.

Donald Trump is guilty of everything we suspect. He was an unloved, pudgy little rich boy whose life has been spent trying to prove to his daddy he's a big man, a tough guy. He's not. The Don(ald)? Ha! He's a wannabe who conned a lot of racist white guys. Beware the cornered rat!

Ken Olin

At this point why are defenders of Trump even pretending they give a shit about the law? Why not just come out and say, "Yes. He's a liar. He's a criminal. He's an idiot. He's dangerous. BUT he's white. He's a he. We've deregulated everything. We got big tax cuts. We're happy."

Ken Olin
@kenolin1

I can't stand it when he speaks for 'Jewish people'. Because I'm a Jewish person. And I know a lot more about loyalty, and decency, and integrity, and honesty, and responsibility, and history, and humanity, than he could possibly think about given the addled paranoia of his mind.

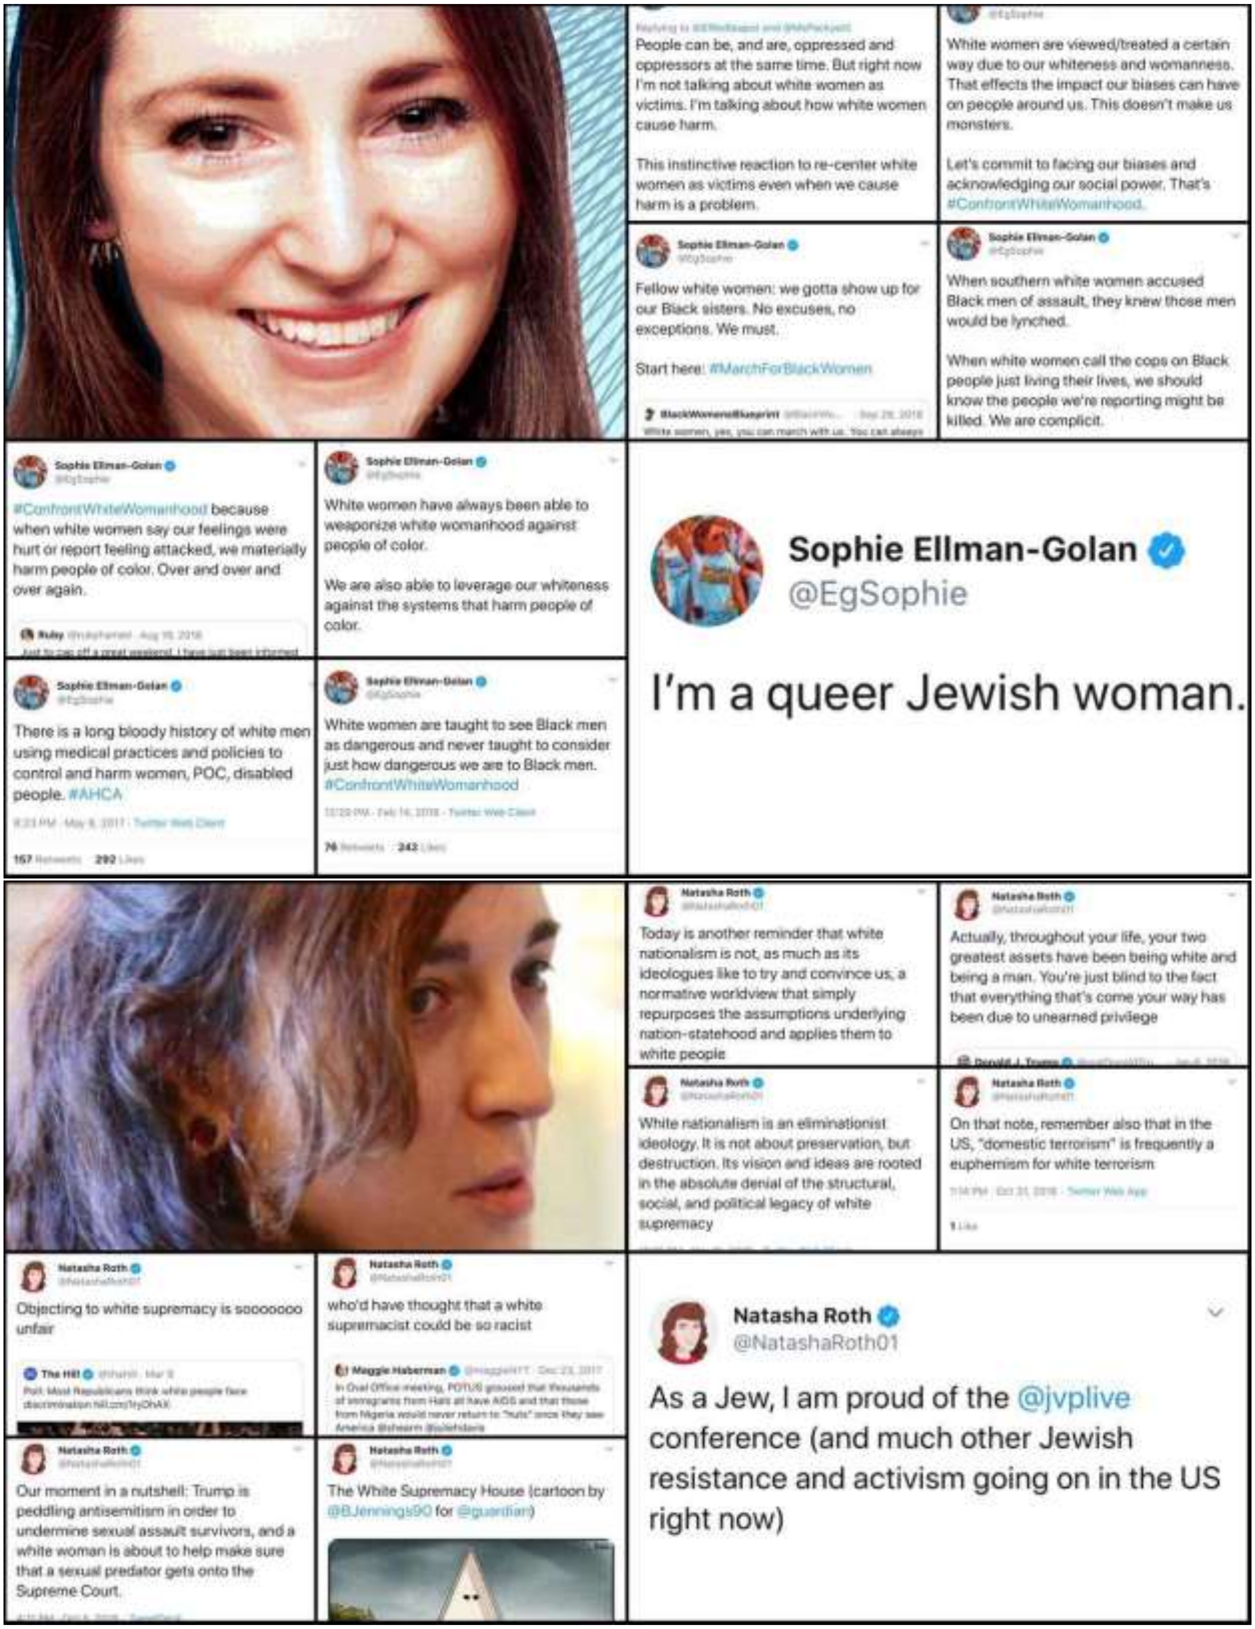
I'm Jewish, queer, trans, and my statements are heavily informed by postcolonial theory, which was itself cultivated by POC, and which I have a masters degree in. Nothing about what you say I'm perpetuating is stupid. And don't invalidate my identity by misgendering me.



People can be, and are, oppressed and oppressors at the same time. But right now I'm not talking about white women as victims. I'm talking about how white women cause harm.

This instinctive reaction to re-center white women as victims even when we cause harm is a problem.

White women are viewed/treated a certain way due to our whiteness and womanness. That effects the impact our biases can have on people around us. This doesn't make us monsters.

Let's commit to facing our biases and acknowledging our social power. That's #ConfrontWhiteWomanhood.

Sophie Ellman-Golan

Fellow white women: we gotta show up for our Black sisters. No excuses, no exceptions. We must.

Start here: #MarchForBlackWomen

Sophie Ellman-Golan

When southern white women accused Black men of assault, they knew those men would be lynched.

When white women call the cops on Black people just living their lives, we should know the people we're reporting might be killed. We are complicit.

Sophie Ellman-Golan

#ConfrontWhiteWomanhood because when white women say our feelings were hurt or report feeling attacked, we materially harm people of color. Over and over and over again.

Sophie Ellman-Golan

White women have always been able to weaponize white womanhood against people of color.

We are also able to leverage our whiteness against the systems that harm people of color.

Today is another reminder that white nationalism is not, as much as its ideologues like to try and convince us, a normative worldview that simply repurposes the assumptions underlying nation-statehood and applies them to white people

Natasha Roth

Actually, throughout your life, your two greatest assets have been being white and being a man. You're just blind to the fact that everything that's come your way has been due to unearned privilege

Natasha Roth

White nationalism is an eliminationist ideology. It is not about preservation, but destruction. Its vision and ideas are rooted in the absolute denial of the structural, social, and political legacy of white supremacy

Natasha Roth

On that note, remember also that in the US, "domestic terrorism" is frequently a euphemism for white terrorism

People with the privilege to ignore other forms of discrimination and bigotry are the 'cowards'. They speak from no direct experience to silence those facing it everyday.

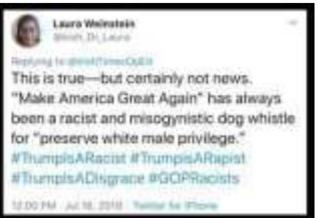
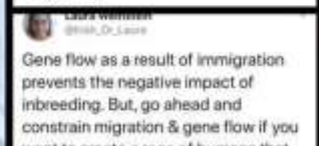
He is racist & I agree that he will probably be re-elected (and I'll move back to #Ireland). I think, though, that we shouldn't under-estimate the role of gender in presidential politics. #Trump successfully plays to the insecurity of white masculinity.



Laura Weinstein
@Irish_Dr_Laura

This is true—but certainly not news. "Make America Great Again" has always been a racist and misogynistic dog whistle for "preserve white male privilege." #TrumpisARacist #TrumpisARapist #TrumpisADisgrace #GOPRacists



Laura Weinstein

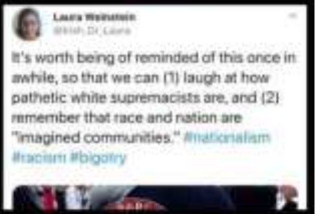
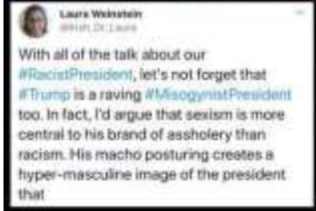
Gene flow as a result of immigration prevents the negative impact of inbreeding. But, go ahead and constrain migration & gene flow if you want to create a race of humans that reflects the neuroticism of "pure bred" dogs. Just be sure to hold a referendum on inbreeding first



Laura Weinstein
@Irish_Dr_Laura

It's worth being of reminded of this once in awhile, so that we can (1) laugh at how pathetic white supremacists are, and (2) remember that race and nation are "imagined communities." #nationalism #racism #bigotry



Laura Weinstein
@Irish_Dr_Laura

With all of the talk about our #RacistPresident, let's not forget that #Trump is a raving #MisogynistPresident too. In fact, I'd argue that sexism is more central to his brand of assholery than racism. His macho posturing creates a hyper-masculine image of the president that is comforting to (white) men who feel that #Feminism and the LGBTQ+ movement have threatened their privilege. This is why the GOP spends so much time trying to feminize liberal men—and portray liberal women as "castrating bitches." The GOP uses fear of emasculation to win votes.

Laura Weinstein
@Irish_Dr_Laura

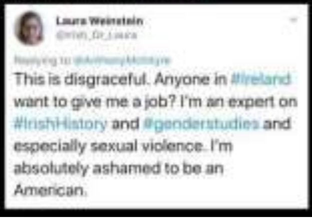
Laura Weinstein
@Irish_Dr_Laura

To sum up: evangelicals think #Trump represents a traditional, pugilistic form of white masculinity that they view with a nostalgic sigh—"ah the good old days when women and gays were powerless"—Trump cares for nothing but stroking his own ego, & evangelicals are just a tool.



Laura Weinstein
@Irish_Dr_Laura

While Americans are lathered into fear and cowardice over some brown-skinned people hoping to come to a better life, the real threat metastasizes at home. Bitter, failed white men, empowered by hate from our leaders, hunt humans at synagogues and black churches. It is civil war.

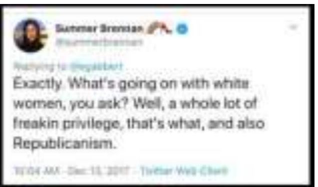
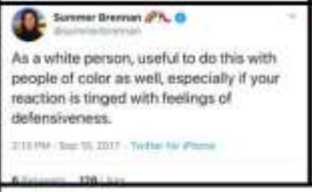
There is this weird idea that white women are somehow immune to being as racist as white men. Yes, Republican women exist, and women also vote to protect whiteness. This is bad and should change, but I'm tired of the surprise.



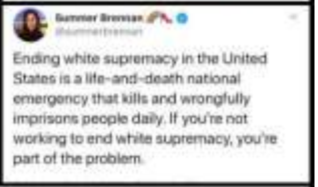
Summer Brennan 🌈👠

Exactly. What's going on with white women, you ask? Well, a whole lot of freakin privilege, that's what, and also Republicanism.



Summer Brennan 🌈👠

As a white person, useful to do this with people of color as well, especially if your reaction is tinged with feelings of defensiveness.



Summer Brennan 🌈👠

Ending white supremacy in the United States is a life-and-death national emergency that kills and wrongfully imprisons people daily. If you're not working to end white supremacy, you're part of the problem.

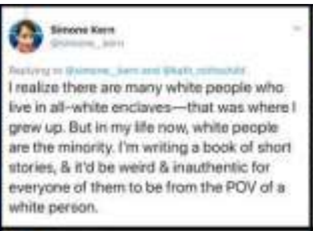
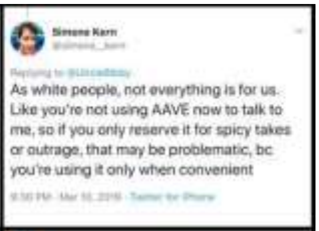
Research on a project had me digging back to something that happened (not to me) in my high school back in the day that still has repercussions today. Such a perfect example of white male privilege, I can't stop thinking about it. I need to refocus.



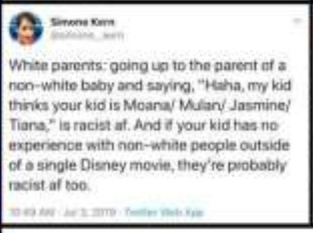
Simone Kern

I realize there are many white people who live in all-white enclaves—that was where I grew up. But in my life now, white people are the minority. I'm writing a book of short stories, & it'd be weird & inauthentic for everyone of them to be from the POV of a white person.



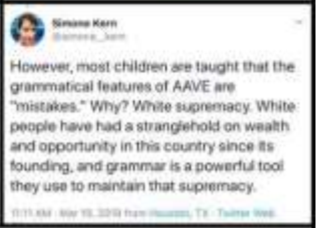
Simone Kern

As white people, not everything is for us. Like you're not using AAVE now to talk to me, so if you only reserve it for spicy takes or outrage, that may be problematic, bc you're using it only when convenient



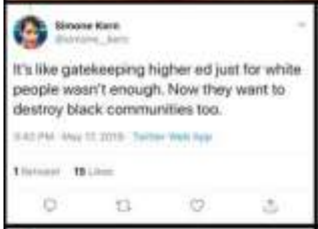
Simone Kern

White parents: going up to the parent of a non-white baby and saying, "Haha, my kid thinks your kid is Moana/ Mulan/ Jasmine/ Tiana," is racist af. And if your kid has no experience with non-white people outside of a single Disney movie, they're probably racist af too.



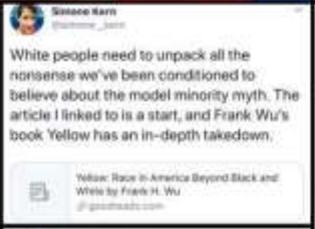
Simone Kern

However, most children are taught that the grammatical features of AAVE are "mistakes." Why? White supremacy. White people have had a stranglehold on wealth and opportunity in this country since its founding, and grammar is a powerful tool they use to maintain that supremacy.



Simone Kern

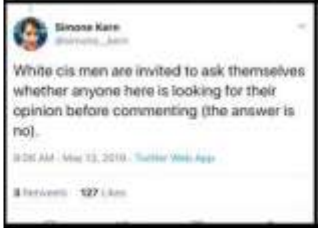
It's like gatekeeping higher ed just for white people wasn't enough. Now they want to destroy black communities too.



Simone Kern

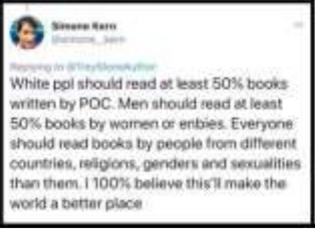
White people need to unpack all the nonsense we've been conditioned to believe about the model minority myth. The article I linked to is a start, and Frank Wu's book Yellow has an in-depth takedown.

Yellow: Race in America Beyond Black and White by Frank H. Wu



Simone Kern

White cis men are invited to ask themselves whether anyone here is looking for their opinion before commenting (the answer is no).



Simone Kern

White ppl should read at least 50% books written by POC. Men should read at least 50% books by women or enbies. Everyone should read books by people from different countries, religions, genders and sexualities than them. I 100% believe this'll make the world a better place

Black women are paid 63 c for every $ paid to white men. Women are typically paid 80 c for every $ paid to men.

Hi fellow white women.

You experience, on average, less discrimination than women of colour.

Yes, really.

Also, in some metrics (wage gaps, CV ratings, etc), it is possible that you come out closer to white men than do men of colour.

Yes, really.

A reminder that we still have a long way to go towards gender equality in science.

That's if you're a journalist OR a scientist or neither!

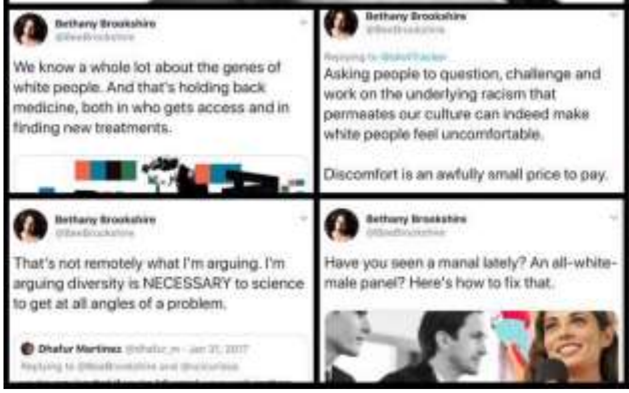
If you're a white cis-het male scientist and a journalist asks you for outside comment and you're busy? RECOMMEND A NON CIS-HET WHITE GUY. Send their email. Walk the walk.

Bethany Brookshire

It is. But wouldn't it be nice if white, straight men had to recognize, face, and state the advantages they had? Might help make it clear what needs to change.

Bethany Brookshire

3. False meritocracy. @KateClancy quotes @scalzi, that white men in science are playing on "easy" mode. Applauded for success, rescuing the princess. But no one acknowledges that everyone else is playing on hard mode, and success is a LOT harder.



Bethany Brookshire

We know a whole lot about the genes of white people. And that's holding back medicine, both in who gets access and in finding new treatments.

Bethany Brookshire

Asking people to question, challenge and work on the underlying racism that permeates our culture can indeed make white people feel uncomfortable.

Discomfort is an awfully small price to pay.

That's not remotely what I'm arguing. I'm arguing diversity is NECESSARY to science to get at all angles of a problem.

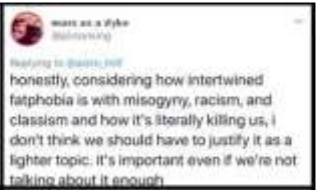
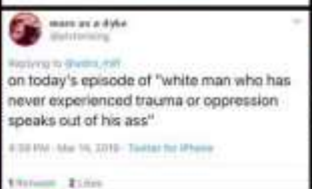
y'all are really choosing to die on the hill that white people can experience racism when racism is literally killing people. like that's what you want to argue



mars as a dyke

honestly, considering how intertwined fatphobia is with misogyny, racism, and classism and how it's literally killing us, i don't think we should have to justify it as a lighter topic. it's important even if we're not talking about it enough



mars as a dyke

on today's episode of "white man who has never experienced trauma or oppression speaks out of his ass"

and so much of fatphobia is tied to racism and classism, and it interacts in really complex ways along lines of gender and sexuality. fat people don't want to hear what you think of our bodies. that's what everyone else is already doing all of the women I've seen supporting Kavanaugh are white. as with the 53% of white women who voted for Trump, they've made a deal with the devil to preserve white privilege over their own agency. it takes women to uphold the patriarchy too and boy does white supremacy help.

I've been saying since 2016 that the reason white women accept and excuse this vile behavior is because we're used to seeing it from our fathers, uncles, and brothers.

I'm watching #DarkGirls and sitting here on the verge of tears. And despising myself for thinking I get to cry over this, because I'll only ever know about it from the peripheral. White women, we need to do a better job of educating our selves.

Lesley Handel

FFS seriously?

Fellow white women, please stop "inventing" things that black women have been doing forever. Also, @FashionCanada you need to diversify your editorial staff so someone catches this stuff in the future.

Lesley Handel

Fellow white women, if I ever see you doing this to a group of black girls I will slap you.

Hard.

Lesley Handel

How is this even a question? Looking at you fellow white people.

Akilah Hughes
Just to be clear: there was never a time when blackface wasn't racist.

Lesley Handel

Also, fellow white women, best not to walk around calling other women "chingona" if you aren't familiar with the cultural nuances. Still love this bag though!

Actually, this bitch (points to self) was addressing fellow white women on the subject of why, as women, we can reclaim the word "c#nt" but, as white women, we're incapable of reclaiming the n-word.

Maybe we need to add Strunk & White to that pile of books.

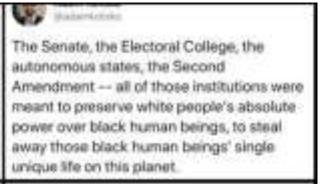
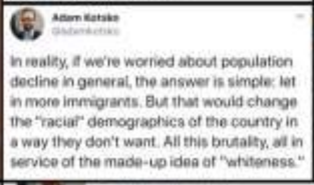
Adam Kotsko

White supremacy is nihilistic because it is in the service of literally nothing -- whiteness is an illusion. There is no biological reality corresponding to white identity. Coates is right to refer to us as "the people who believe that they're white."

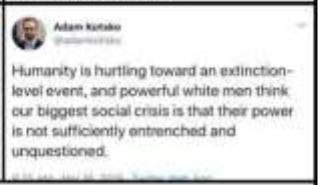


The Senate, the Electoral College, the autonomous states, the Second Amendment -- all of those institutions were meant to preserve white people's absolute power over black human beings, to steal away those black human beings' single unique life on this planet.



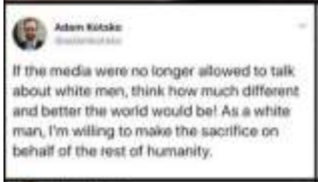
Adam Kotsko

In reality, if we're worried about population decline in general, the answer is simple: let in more immigrants. But that would change the "racial" demographics of the country in a way they don't want. All this brutality, all in service of the made-up idea of "whiteness."



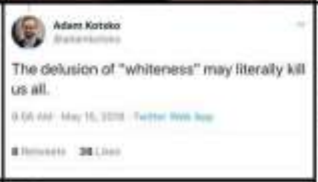
Adam Kotsko

Humanity is hurtling toward an extinction-level event, and powerful white men think our biggest social crisis is that their power is not sufficiently entrenched and unquestioned.



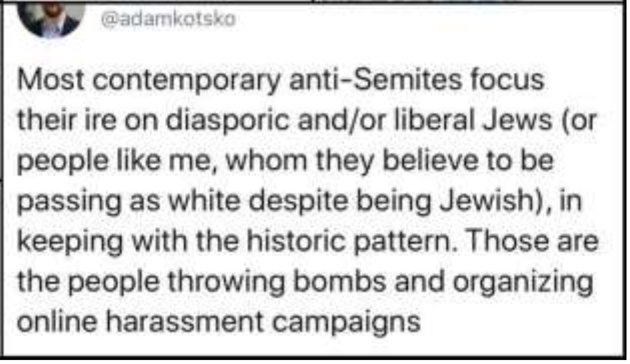
Adam Kotsko

If the media were no longer allowed to talk about white men, think how much different and better the world would be! As a white man, I'm willing to make the sacrifice on behalf of the rest of humanity.



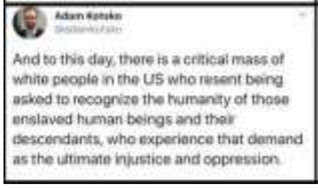
Adam Kotsko

The delusion of "whiteness" may literally kill us all.



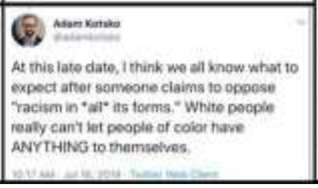
@adamkotsko

Most contemporary anti-Semites focus their ire on diasporic and/or liberal Jews (or people like me, whom they believe to be passing as white despite being Jewish), in keeping with the historic pattern. Those are the people throwing bombs and organizing online harassment campaigns



Adam Kotsko

And to this day, there is a critical mass of white people in the US who resent being asked to recognize the humanity of those enslaved human beings and their descendants, who experience that demand as the ultimate injustice and oppression.



Adam Kotsko

At this late date, I think we all know what to expect after someone claims to oppose "racism in all its forms." White people really can't let people of color have ANYTHING to themselves.

The pernicious myth of a Caucasian race

Anthropologists have for centuries studied human skulls and drawn conclusions about human origins — some of them inaccurate. (Menahem Kahana / AFP/Getty Images)

December 08, 2016

The story of our current usage of Caucasian is one of myth living on in defiance of science. Using the term Caucasian is no more scientific than, say, calling people of short stature Hobbits — another fictional race with European origins.

Language matters: To stop using the word Caucasian would be a first step toward undoing our attachment to color-coding humankind, something that has been at the root of at least 300 years of identity and ideology. As the U.S. continues to grapple with race and racism, it's time for the nation, its police officers and its media to stop being complicit in using a term based on a discredited 18th century theory rooted in false notions of white racial superiority.

Joel Dinerstein is an English professor at Tulane University and the author of two books on race, music and culture.

The problem with having so many intersecting identities (black, Jewish, bisexual) is that I never know why each cishet white goy hates me.
Is it cause I'm a Negro?
Is it cause I'm a dirty Jew?
Is it because I'm a fucking queer?
Is it some insidious combination of the three?

The reality is, whiteness is a construct that is created and upheld by a particular groups. Jews historically haven't had agency in whether they are counted as white or not, and also are only as white as the WASP-dominant society allows.

@temasmith

Replying to @temasmith @CarlyPildis and @Pale_Ontologist

The reality is, race and everything around it is socially constructed, and I think a lot of what the convo internally in Jewish contexts is about, is JOC are looking for a way to frame their experiences of race in terms of whiteness because other language just doesn't exist.

Jews: fighting antisemitism MUST include fighting racism, sexism, white supremacy, islamophobia, and ableism not only because of the many identities that Jews hold but because our liberation literally DEPENDS on us fighting all systems of oppression being gay is not a privilege in any possible way. the clout white men have in LGBTQ+ communities is unrelated to their marginalisations as queer men.

look, just, once more for those that missed it the first time: you can't be racist against white people. white people hold racial power. you can't oppress people in power along the axis they hold power in.

one last thing. you're not going to listen but someone else reading this might. there's no such thing as racism against white people. white people hold undisputed power, globally. you can't oppress the group in power along the axis they have power in.

Absolutely, and it's horrible. But we live in a racist society. Most white people are racist. Most doctors are racist. We know this. The decent ones learn and work against it. Shouldn't we encourage that?

8:33 PM · 2/1/19 · Twitter Web Client

Eliza Hecht
@elizahecht

First of all, you can't be racist toward white people. Racism is prejudice plus power. Second, wanting more POC to be involved has nothing to do with hating white people. It's about creating space for marginalized voices.

Like, white people in this country are so racist. It takes a lot of education to unlearn those things, and I don't honestly know if most white people understand when they're being racist at 25. Many never get any anti-racist education. Not that that's ok, just that it's reality.

Eliza Hecht
@elizahecht

I'm definitely not doing that. I just know that it's a reality that all white people have to be educated on racism, because we don't grow up with an intrinsic understanding of it. I'm certainly not excusing his bigotry.

Sounds like you didn't need to chime in in the first place. Also, if I, as a white person, can understand that I don't understand the experience of PoC because I'm white, so can other white people. It's not my job to cater to their delusions.

@elizahecht

But I'm a white person, and, while I would never have worn blackface, there were lots of things I was ignorant about in my early 20s that I absolutely wouldn't stand by now. We're all racist. We have to be educated to fight against it. I think it's important to champion that.

If you support a racist, even if you don't support his racism, you are saying, "I can overlook his racism because I like XYZ about him." That says, "His racism isn't as important to me as other issues." And being able to say that comes from privilege and white supremacy.

Eliza Hecht
@elizahecht

Our society was structured to benefit white people. That's racist.

Let's be honest: it's not that white people are especially dedicated to following rules ourselves; we know they don't apply to us. Any obsession we have with rules is squarely focused on "those people."

Beverly Tjerngren

Not one person has "villainized" white boys. It's painfully ironic that you're centering them and their feelings in a discussion about bringing other voices and experiences into the light.

11:48 AM · 2/12/19 · Twitter for Android

Beverly Tjerngren

Exactly. It is our responsibility as white people to acknowledge our privilege and call it out every. single. time. Even when it's uncomfortable. Especially when it's uncomfortable.

2:35 PM · 1/23/19 · Twitter for Android

Beverly Tjerngren

I was and am 100% confident that had it gone differently, my explanation would have been accepted with no further consequences.

It didn't occur to me for decades that that confidence was pure white privilege (as is the fact that I never reflected more deeply about it).

Beverly Tjerngren

Had I heard the term "white privilege" back then, I might well have scoffed at the idea. Everybody I met, or knew, or even saw was white, and the "otherness" I was aware of was based on factors other than race. Still, I remember clearly my own first experience of racism.

Beverly Tjerngren

It's been only a matter of years that I've understood that so-called "color-blindness" is its own sort of racism. In refusing to consider the experiences of POC as legitimately different from mine, I was, at the very least, passively complicit in reinforcing white supremacy.

Beverly Tjerngren

Many points here that I have never considered. As usual, however, I'm left uncertain about what I, as a white feminist, ought to DO. 1/

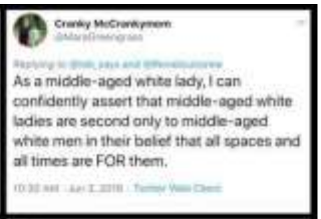
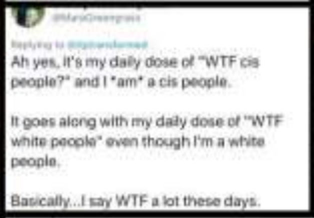
Ewwww, that's terrible :(I'm so sorry we white people are super awful.



Cranky McCrankymom

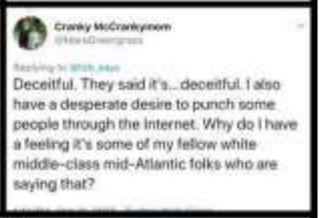
As a middle-aged white lady, I can confidently assert that middle-aged white ladies are second only to middle-aged white men in their belief that all spaces and all times are FOR them.



Ah yes, it's my daily dose of "WTF cis people?" and I am a cis people.

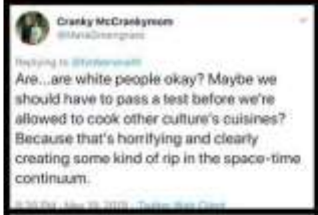
It goes along with my daily dose of "WTF white people" even though I'm a white people.

Basically...I say WTF a lot these days.



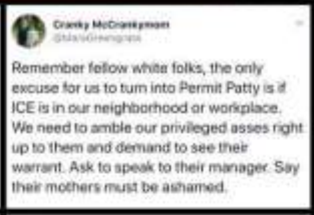
Cranky McCrankymom

Deceitful. They said it's...deceitful. I also have a desperate desire to punch some people through the Internet. Why do I have a feeling it's some of my fellow white middle-class mid-Atlantic folks who are saying that?



Cranky McCrankymom

Are...are white people okay? Maybe we should have to pass a test before we're allowed to cook other culture's cuisines? Because that's horrifying and clearly creating some kind of rip in the space-time continuum.



Cranky McCrankymom

Remember fellow white folks, the only excuse for us to turn into Permit Patty is if ICE is in our neighborhood or workplace. We need to amble our privileged asses right up to them and demand to see their warrant. Ask to speak to their manager. Say their mothers must be ashamed.

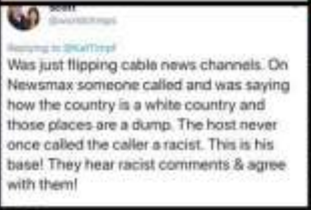
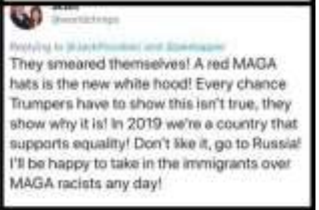
Yet another person who thinks facts don't matter. Two groups of racists argued. The Native Americans stepped in as peace makers. The white hooded, I mean, MAGA capped, teens took out their hate on the peacemakers. Guess eyewitness accounts & video don't matter. Ur nuts! Get help!



Was just flipping cable news channels. On Newsmax someone called and was saying how the country is a white country and those places are a dump. The host never once called the caller a racist. This is his base! They hear racist comments & agree with them!



They smeared themselves! A red MAGA hats is the new white hood! Every chance Trumpers have to show this isn't true, they show why it is! In 2019 we're a country that supports equality! Don't like it, go to Russia! I'll be happy to take in the immigrants over MAGA racists any day!

My favorite thing about White Ppl getting mad about kneeling for the Pledge is that it wasn't even around at the beginning of the country. It was a slogan created in the 1800's to sell more flags. It's the 1800's Equivilent of the O'Reily Auto Parts jingle.

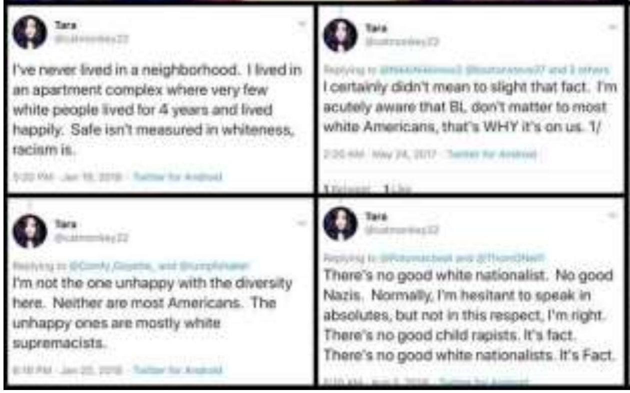
😐 White people speak up! Don't let racist family members slide one bit. Zero tolerance. When you look the other way or remain silent you are complicit, and you must accept fault for a soldier, a human being, a vital part of our country being degraded & discriminated against.

Tara

Don't say all Americans have the same opportunities. They don't. I'm white & I've never been stalked in a store in case I might steal something. I got to be 8 years old the whole year. My fellow Americans who are black don't get that _ privilege_. When you see it, speak up.

Tara

Maybe you've not thought of it before because you don't feel privileged. White people have a privilege that is given w/o asking for it. People of color aren't given that privilege even if they ask for it. It's how you are treated by others vs how POC are treated. Think about it



Tara

I've never lived in a neighborhood. I lived in an apartment complex where very few white people lived for 4 years and lived happily. Safe isn't measured in whiteness, racism is.

Tara

I certainly didn't mean to slight that fact. I'm acutely aware that BL don't matter to most white Americans, that's WHY it's on us. 1/

Tara

I'm not the one unhappy with the diversity here. Neither are most Americans. The unhappy ones are mostly white supremacists.

Tara

There's no good white nationalist. No good Nazis. Normally, I'm hesitant to speak in absolutes, but not in this respect, I'm right. There's no good child rapists. It's fact. There's no good white nationalists. It's Fact.

Like, I do believe that most white people (myself included) have a lot of subconscious racism and similar type biases absorbed throughout our lives to unpack. That can be hard. Not dressing up in blackface/wearing KKK robes/waving around Confederate flags? That one's not so hard.

Actually whiteness is a racial identity specifically designed to exclude. It's not a neutral identity. I know plenty of chill white people who didn't choose this, but this is how it works. That's why "It's OK to be white" is a fascist slogan. Tweet was almost good, though.

@telushk

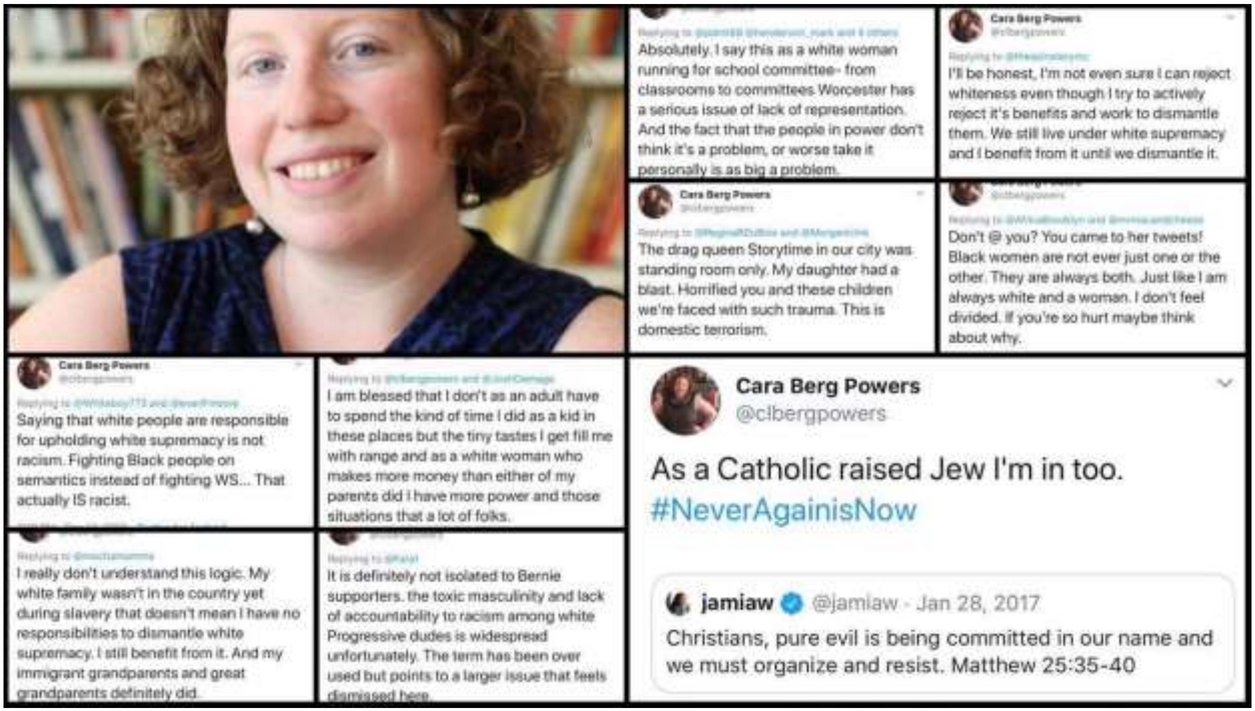
@IBJIYONGI as someone who also has Black and Jewish parents, this really hit home!



Absolutely. I say this as a white woman running for school committee- from classrooms to committees Worcester has a serious issue of lack of representation. And the fact that the people in power don't think it's a problem, or worse take it personally is as big a problem.

Cara Berg Powers

I'll be honest, I'm not even sure I can reject whiteness even though I try to actively reject it's benefits and work to dismantle them. We still live under white supremacy and I benefit from it until we dismantle it.

Cara Berg Powers

The drag queen Storytime in our city was standing room only. My daughter had a blast. Horrified you and these children we're faced with such trauma. This is domestic terrorism.

Don't @ you? You came to her tweets! Black women are not ever just one or the other. They are always both. Just like I am always white and a woman. I don't feel divided. If you're so hurt maybe think about why.

Cara Berg Powers

Saying that white people are responsible for upholding white supremacy is not racism. Fighting Black people on semantics instead of fighting WS... That actually IS racist.

I am blessed that I don't as an adult have to spend the kind of time I did as a kid in these places but the tiny tastes I get fill me with range and as a white woman who makes more money than either of my parents did I have more power and those situations that a lot of folks.

I really don't understand this logic. My white family wasn't in the country yet during slavery that doesn't mean I have no responsibilities to dismantle white supremacy. I still benefit from it. And my immigrant grandparents and great grandparents definitely did.

It is definitely not isolated to Bernie supporters. the toxic masculinity and lack of accountability to racism among white Progressive dudes is widespread unfortunately. The term has been over used but points to a larger issue that feels dismissed here.

White Nationalists who obsess over the racial composition of our country must understand that the idea of America is not dependent on race.

Chad Felix Greene

There is no such thing as a 'white country'

NOT a fed just retarded

Chad Felix Greene

I liked Ann Coulter's book, Adios, America, on its discussion of cultural assimilation and cultures incompatible with our own.

I just do not see the point of assigning racial characteristics to culture or country. I strongly oppose this 'America is becoming less white' idiocy.

Chad Felix Greene

My ancestors came from Ireland. I have no connection to Irish culture.

Your cultural connection is specific and strong. But you and a person from Nigeria are not exclusively connected by similar physical features. Just as I find the notion of 'white countries' nonsensical.

I'm an American conservative gay Jew and I vote for Republicans; not Democrats.

Currently, the only place on the planet where Jews are guaranteed safety and Jewish expression is Israel where our history and faith live.

Muslims dominate dozens of countries.

So yes, questioning the right of Israel to exist is anti-semitism.

I'm sorry, are you really referring to the USA as a "white country"? Your racism is showing. Also: China and Japan, unlike the USA, are largely monocultural countries. Although they also have ethnic minorities that have been oppressed.

I welcome more responses, but I'll answer @DSAMikeP as best I can: Because for over a century, our screens were dominated by images of white people, just as the rest of our culture was. The thing is, there are tons of non-white people on this planet who deserve to be seen.

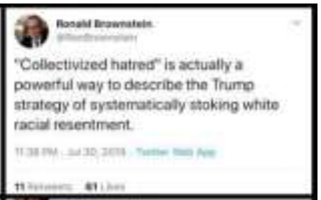
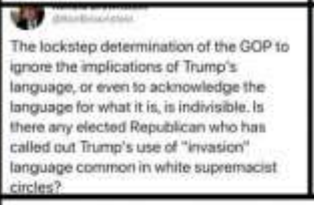
The core divide in American politics remains attitudes toward the demographic, cultural & even economic changes remaking the country, a divide deepened and widened by Trump's open racist appeals to the portions of white America that feel most threatened by the changes.

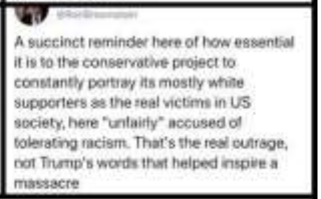


Ronald Brownstein

"Collectivized hatred" is actually a powerful way to describe the Trump strategy of systematically stoking white racial resentment.



The lockstep determination of the GOP to ignore the implications of Trump's language, or even to acknowledge the language for what it is, is indivisible. Is there any elected Republican who has called out Trump's use of "invasion" language common in white supremacist circles?



A succinct reminder here of how essential it is to the conservative project to constantly portray its mostly white supporters as the real victims in US society, here "unfairly" accused of tolerating racism. That's the real outrage, not Trump's words that helped inspire a massacre

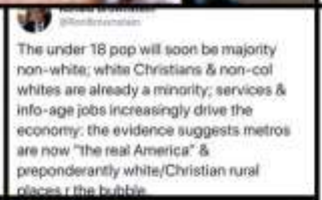
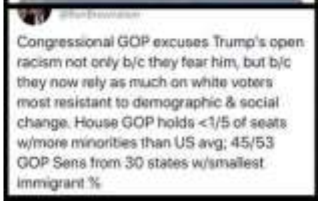
"You look at what is marching up, that is an invasion!" Trump declared at 1 rally. "That is an invasion!" 9 months later, a white man is accused of... killing 20 people after announcing "this attack is a response to the Hispanic invasion of Texas."



The under 18 pop will soon be majority non-white; white Christians & non-col whites are already a minority; services & info-age jobs increasingly drive the economy: the evidence suggests metros are now "the real America" & preponderantly white/Christian rural places r the bubble



Congressional GOP excuses Trump's open racism not only b/c they fear him, but b/c they now rely as much on white voters most resistant to demographic & social change. House GOP holds <1/5 of seats w/more minorities than US avg; 45/53 GOP Sens from 30 states w/smallest immigrant %

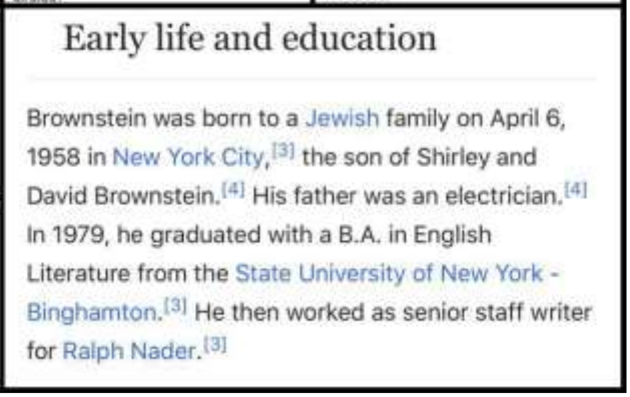
This is an important thread capturing how often Trump has used the precise "invasion" language that has animated white nationalist violence. Can anyone point to an example of an elected Republican calling it inappropriate for him to do so?



Early life and education

Brownstein was born to a Jewish family on April 6, 1958 in New York City,[3] the son of Shirley and David Brownstein.[4] His father was an electrician.[4] In 1979, he graduated with a B.A. in English Literature from the State University of New York - Binghamton.[3] He then worked as senior staff writer for Ralph Nader.[3]

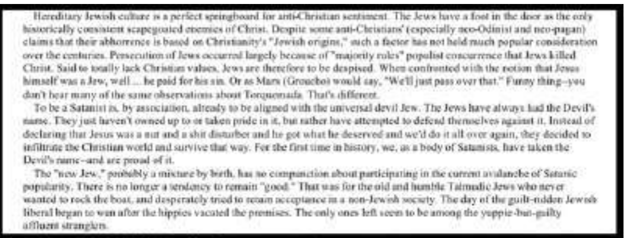
Title	Author of Satanic Bible, High Priest and founder of The Church of Satan



Hereditary Jewish culture is a perfect springboard for anti-Christian sentiment. The Jews have a foot in the door as the only historically consistent scapegoated enemies of Christ. Despite some anti-Christians' (especially neo-Odinist and neo-pagan) claims that their abhorrence is based on Christianity's "Jewish origins," such a factor has not held much popular consideration over the centuries. Persecution of Jews occurred largely because of "majority rules" populist concurrence that Jews killed Christ. Said to totally lack Christian values, Jews are therefore to be despised. When confronted with the notion that Jesus himself was a Jew, well ... he paid for his sin. Or as Marx (Groucho) would say, "We'll just pass over that." Funny thing--you don't hear many of the same observations about Torquemada. That's different.

To be a Satanist is, by association, already to be aligned with the universal devil Jew. The Jews have always had the Devil's name. They just haven't owned up to or taken pride in it, but rather have attempted to defend themselves against it. Instead of declaring that Jesus was a nut and a shit disturber and he got what he deserved and we'd do it all over again, they decided to infiltrate the Christian world and survive that way. For the first time in history, we, as a body of Satanists, have taken the Devil's name--and are proud of it.

The "new Jew," probably a mixture by birth, has no compunction about participating in the current avalanche of Satanic popularity. There is no longer a tendency to remain "good." That was for the old and humble Talmudic Jews who never wanted to rock the boat, and desperately tried to retain acceptance in a non-Jewish society. The day of the guilt-ridden Jewish liberal began to wan after the hippies vacated the premises. The only ones left seem to be among the yuppie-but-guilty affluent stranglers.
